Special Education Teacher | Early Childhood Leader | Founder of Love, Laugh, Learn | Advocate for Equity & Families
Detroit, Michigan, United States

Summary

I am an Early Childhood and Special Education Teacher with more than a decade of experience supporting diverse learners and families. My career spans teaching, entrepreneurship, and advocacy, with a focus on equitable education and whole-child development.

As the Founder of Love, Laugh, Learn Early Childhood Care & Education Center, I design individualized tutoring and enrichment programs for children from preschool to elementary, blending literacy, math, and social-emotional learning. Currently, I serve as a Special Education Teacher with National Heritage Academies, where I create and implement IEPs, provide differentiated instruction, and partner with families to ensure every child has access to meaningful learning.

Beyond the classroom, I am committed to advocacy and leadership. I serve with Mothering Justice, Detroit Parent Network, and the BMEA Teacher Wellness Fellowship, empowering families and educators to thrive.

My mission: to build strong bridges between schools, families, and communities so every child can succeed.

Develop and implement, in conjunction with a co-teacher, a program of educational activities for preschoolers, including weekly lesson plans that specify a daily schedule to achieve specific curricular and programmatic goals.

Plan and implement an individual learning plan for each child in the classroom, including IEP and IFSP goals as necessary, to support individual children's development. Develop and implement experiences that support a full range of developmental, social, and emotional needs, including incidents and opportunities that allow children to develop curiosity, initiative, problem-solving skills, creativity, a sense of self, and belonging to the group.

Plan and implement daily outdoor activities that develop gross motor skills and promote exploration and social relationships. Promote feelings of security and trust by being warm, supportive, and comforting, and establishing solid and caring relationships with children. Partner with families to promote nurturing parent-child relationships. Assist in facilitating parent education workshops as assigned.

Create and maintain a clean, safe classroom environment conducive to learning and promoting social relationships. Observe, assess evidence of each child's growth and development daily, analyze the evidence to track progress, and report progress regularly internally and with families. Participate in training, workshops, and other professional development opportunities to remain current in innovative and best practices related to curricula, approaches to learning, healthy relationships, trauma, and social justice and equity. Maintain strict confidentiality of all information about home and school environment.
